

GRIP H CLIP

Roof clips fall under section 2304.9.4 of the International Code Council (ICC) standards. The reference to clips in this section states “Other fasteners clips, staples, glues and other approved methods of fastening are permitted where approved.

The above statement means it is alright with the ICC if it is alright with the local building inspector to use different types of clips. In other words the ICC has no specific requirement for roof clips. They do this because of the large number of new fastening and gluing products that hit the market each year and improve the building process.

Note that BOCAL, ICBO, SBCCI and National Evaluation Services were the four main organizations that came together to form ICC-ES which is an evaluation service for building codes.

Note that the state of Florida does not require a product approval number for roof clips. As with the rest of the country, this falls with the local inspectors.
